DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendments

1. The Action is responsive to the Applicant's Amendments, filed on July 8, 2004.
2. In responding to Applicant's Amendments made to the claims where new issues relating to "stored object file" was introduced, the Examiner has created this Office Action for Final Rejection (hereafter "the Action") as shown next.
3. As for the Applicant's Remarks on claim rejections, filed on July 8, 2004, has been fully considered by the Examiner, please see discussion in the section Response to Arguments, following the Office Action for Final Rejection.

Specification

4. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: At Page 1, [0004] where "U.S. Pat. No. 5,784,069 to Morimoto" seems to be a typo. Based on the Examiner's search, the patent was issue to Daniels et al. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

5. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

6. Claims 1, 7, 19 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. In this case, the subject matter "stored object file" whose features are related to items in the claims is not described either in the application disclosure or in the co-pending application 09/640938.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

7. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

8. Claims 1-9 and 19-20 are rejected are rejected under U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by Holbrook (U.S. Publication 2002/0152222).

As per claims 1, 7 and 19-20, Holbrook teaches the following:

"a) providing a first display screen having a first plurality of pre-defined selection items relating to features of a stored file" (See Fig. 9, element 900, Figs. 5-6, Page 7, [0092], Page 8, [0100] and Page 15, [0166] wherein Holbrook's web page file is displayed to show a first plurality of predefined selection items, vehicles, recreation, sports and auctions related to the file is equivalent to Applicant's providing a first display screen having a first plurality of pre-defined selection items relating to features of a stored file);

"b) enabling a user to choose one of the said predefined selection items for entering into a predetermined searchable field in said searchable database and is associated with said stored object file or going to a next display screen for presenting a next set of predefined selection items” (See Fig. 9, element 900, Figs. 5-6, Page 7, [0092], Page 8, [0100] and Page 15, [0166] wherein Holbrook’s Fig. 5, element 505-cars is clicked and window 201, elements 202-204 of Fig. 6 are popped up to display data in the predetermined fields where data is searchable from database is equivalent to Applicant’s enabling a user to choose one of the said predefined selection items for entering into a predetermined searchable field in said searchable database and is associated with said stored object file or going to a next display screen for presenting a next set of predefined selection items); and

“c) enabling said user to repeat step (b) until all desired selections have been made for entering at least one of said predefined selection items into said predetermined searchable field of said searchable database” (See Figs. 9, 5-6 and 33, Page 7, [0092], Page 8, [0100] and Page 15, [0166] wherein Holbrook’s a predefined selection item is clicked for showing subcategories available for user’s next level of selection for information of a subcategory, and further data elements may be imported from database via database query engine).

As per Claim 2, Holbrook teaches “selection items are selection buttons” (See Fig. 5, elements 506s wherein Holbrook’s recreation, vehicles, sports and auctions are the buttons for selecting items is equivalent to Applicant’s selection items are selection buttons).

As per Claim 3, Holbrook teaches "selection items are linked text blocks" (See Figs. 5 and 9, Page 7, [0092] and Page 8, [0100] wherein Holbrook's selection item shopping is linked to web page block 900 is equivalent to Applicant's selection items are linked text blocks).

As per Claim 4, Holbrook teaches "selection items are linked regions on a screen" (See Fig. 5, elements 509, 506s and 520s wherein Holbrook's items shopping, recreation, [cars, slot cars, radio control] are linked regions on a screen is equivalent to Applicant's selection items are linked regions on a screen).

As per Claim 5, Holbrook teaches "at least one said selection items is labeled with a text label" (See Fig. 5 wherein Holbrook's elements 506s are selection items labeled with text labels vehicles, sports, auctions and recreation is equivalent to Applicant's at least one said selection items is labeled with a text label).

As per Claim 6, Holbrook teaches "selection items is labeled with a graphic image" (See Fig. 16 Holbrook's image elements is equivalent to Applicant's selection items is labeled with a graphic image).

As per Claim 8, "entering more than one selection item into the same said predetermined field of said database" (See Fig. 5 wherein Holbrook's recreation field has three selectable items cars, slot cars and radio control is equivalent to Applicant's entering more than one selection item into the same said predetermined field of said database).

As per Claim 9, Holbrook teaches "selecting said selection item using a mouse" (See Fig. 5, elements 504- 506 wherein Holbrook's selectable items are clicked to select is equivalent to Applicant's selecting said selection item using a mouse).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

9. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

10. Claims 10-11 are rejected are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Holbrook (U.S. Publication 2002/0152222) as applied to claims 1-9 and 19-20, and further in view of Florance et al. (U.S. Publication 2002/0065739, hereafter "Florance").

As per Claim 10, Holbrook teaches multiple levels of selecting items involving database data as described in previously for claims 1, 7 and 19-20 rejection.

Holbrook does not specifically teach selecting a selection item using a touch screen.

However, Florance teaches activating a selection from the menu by touching the screen at Page 17, [0207], lines 6-11.

Art Unit: 2167

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the applicant's invention was made to combine Florance's reference with Holbrook' by implementing touch screen for activating a selection from the menu because by using the latest technology would have continuously improved data collection, enhanced sales efforts and service capabilities, and controlled costs as the marketplace framework and unified data model is built.

As per Claim 11, Florance further teaches activating a selection from the menu by voicing a command at Page 17, [0207], lines 6-11.

Response to Arguments

12. At Page 6, the Applicants' arguments filed on July 8, 2004 concerning Examiner's earlier objection to drawings because of text labels do not attach to the figure elements. The Examiner appreciated the comment and agreed to withdraw the objection.

13. The Applicants' arguments filed on July 8, 2004 have been fully considered but, excepting the correction to the Examiner's objection to the drawings, they are not persuasive, for the Examiner's response, please see discussion below:

a). At Pages 6-7, claims 1, 7, 12 and 19-20, Applicant argued that the OraRep reference does not teach "object file is associated with various selectable items", "predefined selection items relating to features of a stored object" and "selectable items are put in a predefined searchable field".

As to the above argument a), the Examiner respectfully disagreed. First of all, the subject matters "object file" and "stored object" are not described in the application disclosure or in the cited co-pending application 09/640,938. As for the amendment to all independent claims, specifically relating to "object file", the Examiner introduced the Holbrook reference for rejecting the claims. Please refer to the Office Action for Final Rejection as previously described.

14. In light of the forgoing arguments, the 35 U.S.C 102 rejection for Claims 1 –9 and 19-20, and the 35 U.S.C 103 rejection for Claims 10-11 is hereby sustained.
